5. WEB BROWSER COOKIES

What is a cookie: A cookie is a small amount of data, which often includes a unique identifier that is sent to your computer, tablet or mobile phone (all referred to here as a “device”) web browser from a website’s computer and is stored on your device’s hard drive. Each website can send its own cookie to your web browser if your browser’s preferences allow it. Many websites do this whenever a user visits their website in order to track online traffic flows. If you continue without changing your settings, we’ll assume that you are happy to receive all cookies on the site. However, you can change your cookie settings at any time. It is important to note that if you change your settings and block certain cookies, this may mean that certain features which you have chosen cannot be provided and you will not be able to take full advantage of some of the site’s features.

On our site, cookies record information about your online preferences and allow us to tailor our site to your interests. During the course of any visit to our site, the pages you see, along with a cookie, are downloaded to your device. Many websites do this, because cookies enable website publishers to do useful things like find out whether the device (and probably its user) has visited the website before. This is done on a repeat visit by checking to see, and finding, the cookie left there on the last visit.

How we use cookies: Information supplied by cookies can help us to understand the profile of our visitors and help us to provide you with a better user experience. It will also help us recognise when you are signed in to your account and to provide a more personalised experience.

Third party cookies in embedded content on our site: Please note that during your visits to our site you may notice some cookies that are not related to us. To support our site, we sometimes embed content from social media and other third party websites. These may include YouTube, Twitter, Facebook, Instagram and Pinterest. As a result, when you visit a page containing such content, you may be presented with cookies from these websites and these third party cookies may track your use of our site. We do not control the dissemination of these cookies and you should check the relevant third party’s website for more information. If you continue without changing your settings, we’ll assume that you are happy to receive all cookies on the site. However, you can change your cookie settings at any time.

Sharing tools: You may also see embedded ‘share’ buttons on our site; these enable users to easily share content with their friends through a number of popular social networks. When you click on one of these buttons, a cookie may be set by the service you have chosen to share content through. Again, we do not control the dissemination of these cookies. If you continue without changing your settings, we’ll assume that you are happy to receive all cookies on the site. However, you can change your cookie settings at any time.

6. YOUR RIGHTS

You have the right to ask us not to process your personal data for marketing purposes. We will usually inform you (before collecting your data) if we intend to use your data for such purposes or if we intend to disclose your information to any third party for such purposes. You can exercise your right to prevent such processing by noting this on the forms we use to collect your data.

You can also exercise the right at any time by contacting us at team@proplaysportsevents.com. Our site may, from time to time, contain links to and from the websites of our partner networks, advertisers and affiliates. If you follow a link to any of these websites, please note that these websites have their own privacy policies and that we do not accept any responsibility or liability for these policies. Please check these policies before you submit any personal data to these websites.

7. ACCESS TO INFORMATION

The Act gives you the right to access information held about you. Your right of access can be exercised in accordance with the Act. Any access request will be subject to a fee of £10 to meet our costs in providing you with details of the information we hold about you.

8. CHANGES TO OUR PRIVACY POLICY

Any changes we make to our privacy policy in the future will be posted on this page and, where appropriate, notified to you by e-mail. Please check back frequently to see any updates or changes to our privacy policy.
